CSA President Ernest Logan Responds Applauds the Appointment of Dennis M. Walcott as NYC Schools Chancellor

CSA applauds the appointment of Deputy Mayor Dennis M. Walcott as NYC schools chancellor. For more than 30 years, Dennis has been deeply involved in the education community having begun as a kindergarten teacher in a child care center. In addition to his many other contributions to the community, he served with great distinction as President of the New York City Urban League. Throughout the years, he has contributed to the school system and the community in a variety of admirable ways. In his role as deputy mayor, he has been the Mayor's chief advisor on most issues related to the Department of Education. Some months ago, I recommended that Dennis be named chancellor and I am delighted that this has happened today.

All of us at CSA hope that Dennis Walcott will bring stability to NYC public schools, uniting educators, families and the general public and helping them gain a new spirit of confidence.
