CSA President Ernest Logan Responds to Governor Cuomo's
State of the State Remarks
About Educator Evaluations

"We agree with Governor Cuomo that the teacher and Principal evaluation plan needs to be fully implemented no later than January 2013. Our Principals' evaluations have included metrics of student achievement for years. The State Education Department has already approved our current Principal Performance Review for the purpose of evaluating high school Principals in conformance with the new evaluation law. As the NYSUT court decision noted, disproportionately basing an educator's evaluation on a solitary test violates the letter and spirit of the evaluation statute, which requires that a teacher and Principal evaluation should be based on multiple student achievement measures."
